Katherine,

I really enjoyed the meeting yesterday and look forward to future ones.

In reference to the launcher we would like to have donated, I would like to request the following launcher if available:

Also please provide me with an approximate cost of the donation as I have to get it an approval for it since it's a donation.

VK-SBL™

The VK-SBL offers all the features of the VKS PRO™ in a lighter and smaller form factor. The VK-SBL easily adapts to different roles and situations, from routine patrols to specialized operations, while maintaining accuracy and control.

Subject: RE: PepperBall Customer Feedback - Zoom

Greetings,

Just checking in to ensure that 1. You all received the meeting invite and 2. You are still free to join us tomorrow at 10:00 am EST.

I know Bob was reaching out individually; but to recap his email:

Bob Plaschke is the CEO of PepperBall and he thanks you for agreeing to talk with him and the rest of our management team.

The goal of the session tomorrow is to give our team a realistic (and hopefully blunt) view of the challenges you and your team have faced using our tools / products. While each of us talks to customers, we rarely get a detailed sense of the pain we unintentionally create and in a positive sense some of the positives we might not realize we facilitate.

Below is a list of questions that Bob would like to ask you all and of course, if any question is not relevant to your situation, you can pass on answering.

- a. Your background:
 - a. What is your role in your agency
 - b. How many years have you been using PepperBall
- b. How do you or your team use PepperBall
 - a. what is your/your team's typical use cases to deploy PepperBall (e.g., area denial)
 - b. how often do you/your team deploy each month, each year (e.g., take launcher out of the bag) and discharge (e.g., deploy projectiles)
 - c. which launchers and projectile types does your team deploy
- c. Describe the most recent (or impactful) situation where you or your team deployed PepperBall.
 - a. what happened
 - b. what went well with the launcher system
 - c. what didn't go well with PepperBall
- d. Suggestions for PepperBall. If you were running PepperBall, what things would you do to ensure we better deliver / support police officers in the field

Finally, let us know which new launcher we can donate to your team (if we can donate) as a thank you for taking the time to help us improve our business.

Best regards and looking forward to speaking with you tomorrow.

Katherine
