Serve Tulsans

The City of Tulsa launched the Serve Tulsans volunteer initiative in 2018 seeking to build up and coordinate local human capital to address public problems. The hope is that by encouraging community members to work together on meaningful projects they would create lasting relationships, impact their neighborhoods and the city in its entirety. To date the initiative has delivered and prompted activities that have improved senior living conditions, created a neighborhood meeting space, planted trees, enhanced local parks, installed a mural, and launched a volunteer web portal - servetulsans.org.
