MESSAGE--MAYOR TO COMMISSIONERS

"Gentlemen of the Commission:-- In connection with the late negro uprising I desire to make some suggestions which may be helpful in arriving at a sound and correct solution of the various problems that now confront us. Since this trouble has happened, I know that you, as well as myself, have had all ordinary mortals could do to attend to the duties of the present without a thought of a permanent Policy to govern our future action as to the "Burned District" and various needs connected with the same, but we must now look to the future because of the lease of power that the people have placed in our hands and seek to do things that are best suited to the needs of our great city.

It is fitting that we first remember and thank those officers both regular and special, members of the National Guard, of the Legion, and the great number of good citizens who risked their lives to defend this city. A list of their names should be preserved that the people may in the future remember them in some fitting manner for their valiant fight to protect Tulsa and make her safe for the future. Also the Red Cross, the good work of the Churches, Salvation Army, and all other organizations and citizens who helped following this disaster should receive the thanks of the whole community.

Adjutant General Barrett won a place in the hearts of Tulsans which time will not efface. Officers, soldiers, and citizens who worked with him found him a man, a general, and a good citizen. It was a pleasure to work with him and his staff and the National Guard under his command.

The many sleepless nights put in by Police Commissioner Adkison in directing his forces made a severe test upon the strength of any official but he is rewarded by knowing that he protected the city and did his full duty. The same may be said of Maj. T. C. Hopkins, Maj. C. F. Hopkins, Maj. Fuller, Capt. Sever, Capt. Galloway, Maj. Ballou, Lieut. Dunlap, Lieut. Bachelder, Lieut. Boushell, Lieut. Sundin, Lieut. Col. Rooney, Lieut. Col. P. J. Hurley, Maj. Alva J. Niles, Capt. Lewis Lefko, Lieut. C. A. Border, and Capt. Gerald F. O'Brien, who directed the National Guards, and the boys of the American Legion.

Now, while I can't at this time cover all subjects that possibly should be covered and brought to your attention, yet a few points are suggested to mind.

First-Responsibility: Let the blame for this negro uprising lie right where it belongs--on those armed negroes and their followers who started this trouble and who instigated it and any persons who seek to put half the blame on the white people are wrong and should be told so in no uncertain terms. We are told that twice before we assumed power as city officials that armed mobs of negroes visited the white section of the city and made certain demands under threats of force. They have come only Once in this administration. We are not Prophets, but we wager that trip number two will not take place soon.

Second: No Cause for this trouble.

Even when these negroes were at the jail, there still was no reason for their making any trouble. They were assured over and over again that the prisoner held by the sheriff was safe, that no one could get him. No organized mob was in the act of getting him, nor was there any danger apparent that they would get him. The occasion brought quickly around the Court House hundreds of men, women, and children as is usually the case when any rumor of this nature gets in the air. The great, great majority of white people who ran in were wholly unarmed. There was every reason to believe that when these negroes knew their prisoner was safe that the trouble would immediately stop because usually when a cause is removed, there will be no effect. A shot fired by a fool black person, evidently without cause, set the whole affair going and set the old fires of racial war and hatred going in all their fury.

Third--Officers: For the officers in the heart of the city and in the presence of hundreds of men, women and children to have pitched a battle by shooting would have meant the lives of many men, women, and children who were in the crowd, and our list of killed and wounded might have been one or two hundred people. It is to the credit of these men who defended the city that night, being officers, National Guards, and Legion men, that they were wise enough to see this and to gradually work these disturbers back to the negro section. All this was done without a dollars loss of property by fire in the heart of Tulsa and with a very minimum of loss of life or personal injury.

Fourth--Place: It is the judgement of many wise heads in Tulsa, based upon observation of a number of years, that this uprising was inevitable. If that be true and this judgement had to come upon us, then I say it was good generalship to let the destruction come to that section where the trouble was hatched up, put in motion and where it had its inception.

Fifth--Wrongs: All regret the wrongs that fell upon the innocent negroes and they should receive such help as we can give them if within our power. It, however, is true of any warfare that the fortunes of war fall upon the innocent along with the guilty. This is true of any conflict, invasion, or uprising. Think what would have happened had the Allies marched to Berlin.

Sixth--Firearms: We are told that in the colored section the negroes had guns in their homes and ammunition to use in such weapons. When, in the course of the last twenty five years or more, has that not been true and where is the law by which anyone can prevent negroes having guns in their homes? We all know the law, both state and city, allows this and so far as I know, always has allowed it. In the past fourteen years I have often had occasion in dealing in lands and farm loans in the Creek Nation particularly, to be in many negro homes. It has been much the exception to find any negro house or cabin where there was not one or two shotguns or revolvers and plenty of ammunition. I venture to say that this very day, within a radius of twenty five miles of Tulsa enough fire arms can be obtained from negro homes alone, to equip five hundred men and prepare them for a pretty fair state of warfare.

Seventh: Nothing new:--These uprisings are not by any means new or novel and they are no longer confined below the Mason and Dixon line. The cities are legion who have had more or less of riot trouble. Will law-abiding citizens cease business with the City of Tulsa or refrain from coming here on account of having had trouble of this kind? Have you heard of anybody staying out of Washington D. C. because there was race trouble there? Chicago killed something like two thousand negroes not long ago and I believe the trouble lasted several days there, yet does any business man stay out of Chicago or refuse to invest in property there on this account? The Court House was destroyed in a similar trouble in Omaha and the uprising was not put down there nearly so quickly as in this city, yet does anybody refrain from going to Omaha because of that affair? East St. Louis was visited by an outbreak far more serious than that in this city, yet none of us think of staying away from St. Louis. This list might be extended to cover many pages, and yet not exhaust all the illustrations. Let us immediately get to the outside the fact that everything is quiet in our city, that this menace has been fully conquered, and that we are going along in a normal condition and it will have a great influence to overcome the hundreds of wild rumors that have gone over the country. As the truth gradually reaches the outside, ninety nine per cent of the prejudices will be overcome.

Next let us look to a few general ideas pertaining to reconstruction:

(1) Let us not shirk the responsibility of doing that which is best for all, both black and white.

(2) Let every transaction pertaining to the rights of all these property owners, both black and white, be characterized by the absolute honesty and see that each gets, in the parlance of the streets, a square deal.

(3) A large portion of this district is well suited for industrial purposes: better adapted for these purposes than for residences. Once it is assured that it will be so used there will be a decided rise in value which will give the property owners more for the naked ground than his whole property was worth before the fire. Let the negro settlement be placed farther to the north and east.

We should immediately get in touch with all the railroads with a view to establishing a Union Station on this ground. The location is ideal and all the railroads convenient. From our acquaintance with all conditions after several days for settling back to a normal state, I believe a committee of citizens can now well be selected to constitute the legally appointed committee for the city, known as a "Reconstruction Committee" and I recommend such action.

It is well in the selection of this committee that we fully comprehend just the nature of the locality and the people with whom they must come in contact. Many well known men in other lines could not handle this section to the best advantage. Persons who have lived here many years and helped blaze the way for greater Tulsa, who know every foot of the ground, and who are well acquainted with these colored people, and who are honest and reliable can best handle this proposition. I believe a committee consisting of the following men will be equal to the greater task of aiding and guiding us to a conclusion beneficial to all.
